

Seven Mary Three "First Time Believers"

Visit "First Time Believers" on MotoLyrics.com

I am a tiny machinist
I have the smallest plans
We have a mind television
The gift of idle hands

I've been re-educated
To bleed technology
Even more complicated
Than the machines who made me

I'm a wasteland messiah
I'm a train run off the track
I'm a first time believer in
What might never, always does come back

There was a black hole voice
An interrupted transmission
It said to free yourself
And this fear is your submission

I have the tiny tools
To finish what I start
I have the vacuum tubes
To eat your little hearts

I'm a wasteland messiah
I'm a train run off the track
I'm a first time believer in
What might never, always does come back

I'm a ghost with a name
I'm the now and never past
I'm a first time believer in
What might never, always does come back

Yes, I want you
Yes, I want your mind
Blow it every time

They say, it's darker when
A little light goes out
Than if it never had shone

Of this I have no doubt

I drove the 44
To sun coming up sky
And when I saw their cars
I just smiled in my surprise

Little wasteland messiahs
Little trains run off the track
Little first time believers in
What might never, always does come

Little ghosts with a name
Little now and never past
Little first time believers in
What might never, always does come back

Visit Seven Mary Three page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

MotoLyrics.com | Lyrics, music videos, artist biographies, releases and more.