(For Tom O. and Kurt V.)

Play me like a player piano roll me from the corners of your dark and dusty shadows

Like a player piano,
I sit useless
most of the time

The bar gets darker it swallows up the scarlet
The barkeep's looking thin
We sit together until only the piano of the player remains

Tell me why you won't keep it

Tie me up in a shoe-string box She don't keep it if she don't need it

Get me out of the deep end my legs are dangling over the roof

The room gets brighter when I can see inside her when I can turn the switch
But she's so together I can do the damage and she can manage the flames
