in a little while i will go for you in a little while i will bleed for you in a little while i will hang for you in a little while i will call for you you, i only want to spend my time with you i cracked my skin so i could be with you i made the world to stop it just for you i want to be with you there's a little place that i will build for you there's an empty space that i will fill for you
i want to be with you
