I'm sick of you acting like this
And I know everybody else is
Go live with your friends
Since you always can count on them

And I hate to see you this way
You're losing everyone who loves you
And that's just not you
To want something so new

Well I've heard of phases people go through
But that's just not me
And that's just not you
And that's also shocking
That you could end these last three years
Without shedding a tear
It's like i'm facing my biggest fear, well

I have every right to
Never wanna see you again
But my heart's got other plans
I think from day to night about everything i'm so
missing
I'm so missing my best friend

Is what i'm losing
And if you'll listen to me
You can tell i'm not the one
Choosing to be so unhappy

You're liquid clarification's just temporary
And everything now is never thought of
Is the only thing ever brought up
And now my stomach burns from this diet of nerves
It's all I can choke down

And everybody
They sink in another girl
Well that's the very last thing
That would be good for me

And all you lovers
Will you cherish what you have
Cause one step out the door
It's never coming back

I have every right to
Never wanna see you again
But my heart's got other plans
I think from day to night about everything i'm so
missing
I'm so missing my best friend

My best friend

You never took back my heart and you're sneaking in
The door is locked it says "we're just friends"
But that's not how the story goes
That's not how the story folds
For this is how the best friend
And this is how the best friend, oh

I guess we're old now
I guess the times run all out
And i'm sick of your dreams
Always misleading mine down

And I know your spark for me is no more
But your mind still mends while your temper with it
And I know your spark for me is no more, and

I have every right to
Never wanna see you again
But my heart's got other plans
I think of dreams, I think of everything i'm so missing
I'm so missing my best friend

My best friend

Where did you go, where did you go
(my best friend)
Where did you go, where did you go
Where did you go, where did you go
(my best friend)
Where did you go, you always had a home.
