As deep, as deep, as deep as the ocean floor
As high, as high as the eagle soars
As far, as far as a falling star can go
You've taken all of my mistakes and
Put them anywhere but close
They have gone away, from the east to the west
Any height, any depth, that's where it goes
From the ground to the sky, from low to high
That's where it goes
You act just like like it never happened
Asleep, asleep, asleep am I in a dream?
You're in this life, someone pinch me

So good, so good you'd think I would be in a trance
Your forgiving weighs in every circumstance
From the east to the west
Any height, any depth, that's where it goes
From the ground to the sky, from low to high
That's where it goes
You act just like like it never happened
Ddep, wide, low, high my sins are gone away
And if I'm up, down, or all around I can Hear You say "they are gone away"
