A morning rainbow fills the sky, I think I'm dead
But I know I'm not dead yet
I've been missing You, You've been here all along
I guess sometimes I just forget

There was comfort in Your breath
You made me believe that life was worth it

I'm a brand new man
And I will never be the same
I'm a brand new man
And I will never be the same

I remember the day that I met You
The emptiness I had could fill a mountain
And I believed it was true
My pain would never go away

But there was comfort in Your breath
You made me believe that life was worth it

I'm a brand new man
And I will never be the same
I'm a brand new man
And I will never be the same

And I'm not looking back
My past is far behind me, yeah
I'm stronger every day
You've made me a brand new man

And I'm a brand new man
And I will never be the same
And I'm a brand new man
And I will never be the same

I'm a brand new man
And I will never be the same
I'm a brand new man
And I will never be the same
