

Seventh Day Slumber

"Never Too Far Gone"

Visit "Never Too Far Gone" on MotoLyrics.com

Living life so fast you can't slow down
You feel like time is slipping away
So you're drowning out your tomorrows
And the melody of pain is on replay
I was lost in that place too long
Don't believe the lies that say you're too far gone
And I won't stand and watch you fall
Fade away and lose it all
It's time to let go of the things you've done
'Cause you're never too far gone
You're lost inside the memory of your past
It's like a knife-cut right to the soul
So focused on your imperfections
That you hide behind a mask so no one knows
I was lost in that place too long
You can't believe the lies that say you're too far gone
And I won't stand and watch you fall
Fade away and lose it all
It's time to let go of the things you've done
'Cause you're never too far gone
I know you feel ashamed, feel all alone
You see your life crashing and you're losing control
But it's not too late, you don't have to fall
Don't believe the lies that say you're too far gone
I was lost in that place too long
You can't believe the lies that say you're too far gone
And I won't stand and watch you fall
Fade away and lose it all
It's time to let go of the things you've done
'Cause you're never too far gone

Visit Seventh Day Slumber page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.