

The Seventh Gate (The 7th Gate) "Finally Freed"

Visit "Finally Freed" on MotoLyrics.com i see puppies in the stars, consuming this children bloom hopeless under a broken street lamp i woke up in a black day, kissing life, whispering goodbye bathing in drops of the sky, greet me extended, awaiting

my heart shot up through the beauty came back down in the web of lightning

my heart shot up through the beauty
came back down in the web of lightning
the cold frost of truth has rusted confessing dreams, windows beyond eyes candles flicker, locking me inside swept away in a world of philosophical depression drowning and wishing upon our fallen star
swept away in a world of philosophical depression
drowning and wishing upon our fallen star

screaming to break this, hang dry my ghosts breakdown, hiding from the voices in my head look with trembling hands towards you dying slowly, being consumed unforgiven hearts freed from emptiness and greed unforgiven hearts have been freed

from emptiness and greed

seasons taking over now masquerade the picnics of old and new
the traces of me and you

seasons taking over now
masquerade the picnics of old and new
the traces of me and you finally freed...

