Last night I woke I was somewhere sleeping
In a strange woman's bed
With my head still ringin'
Sometimes it's the wicked thunder
The wine and women take you under
She'll laugh at you and smile at you
Leave you to wake and feel it

All comes down
It All comes down sometimes

Last night I woke I forgot my sweet dreamin'
My head against the window
Watch the highway lines streamin'
Are there numbers to go with every place
A name to go with every face
But never a one to call my own
Ain't it nice to be a rollin' stone it

All comes down
It All comes down sometime

Last night I woke I heard some woman screamin'
Wavin' her arms yeah she loves me for singing
A song to keep it all inside
Sing you're so pretty and it's all right
The pride and rhythm make it better and bittersweet
When love can't keep it

All comes down
It All comes down sometime
