So here I am waiting with my perfect thoughts
But they're all dead and wrong
This isn't what I expected
This isn't what I had in mind, but still I can't move on

It's been so long since I felt loved
It's been so long since I cared
This world has nothing to offer
This world is full of despair

I was full of glass
You can see right through
Push me down I'd break
Until I saw you

It's easy to believe what you want to
When this holds captive our hearts
There's something in the way that binds you
It keeps us torn and apart
And it keeps us torn and apart

I can feel what it's like
My fellas I won't lie
I can feel, I can feel

It's been so long since I felt loved
It's been so long since I cared
This world's nothing to offer
This world's full of despair

I was full of glass
You can see right through
Push me down I'd break
Until I saw you

It's easy to believe what you want to
When this holds captive our hearts
There's something in the way that binds you
It keeps us torn and apart
And it keeps us torn and apart

So here I am, I can feel something inside

But it is not my own, it's not my own
I wish I could see my future, see how everything unfolds
'Cause now I'm not alone, I'm not alone

It's easy to believe what you want to
When this holds captive our hearts
There's something in the way that binds you
It keeps us torn and apart
And it keeps us torn and apart

I can feel what it's like
I can feel
