

Polyphonic Spree

"Section 20: Together We're Heavy"

Visit "Section 20: Together We're Heavy" on MotoLyrics.com

(Narration:) Before the day began there was a hum.

This

Hum began to flow across the universe. This flow created

A dream in the young boys mind before he awoke. This Dream was one filled with awareness, tragedy, and finally

Triumph. He saw his life as one day that lasted until the End of time. He knew that before the sun could make it's

Way to it's rightful place that he had to come to an Agreement with chance. This agreement was one of Awareness that his life was meant for something Spectacular. He was chosen to dance in the flow of life. Everything was interconnected and that the sun was woven

To his spirit and his spirit was woven to every other Spirit in existence. This created a blanket that allowed Him to dive without fear into the unknown and conquer the Challenges that lay before him. He dreamed of broken Stars and diamonds and what he saw filled his stomach

With a cool brisk wind. It was as if wonder had been Placed in his mind for the first time. His chest filled With air, up and down, as the night air blew through his Blonde hair. He held a lasting thought of self worth and This thought brought destiny to his waking eyes. The Night was over.

(Choir:) Love, love, love, love...

Visit Polyphonic Spree page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.