Bit By Bit

You left to search for paradise
You said you'd risk the sacrifice
There was a meaning, so you said
I shouldn't have to be afraid

"If love can stand the tests of time
The tears we shed will taste like wine"
You put it so well, I agreed
I wouldn't leave my heart to bleed

Give me your love bit by bit
Soon I will have all of it
Give me your love bit by bit
Soon I will have all of it

Choices made so hard to say
Our guiding stars to lead the way
From time to time they bring on pain
Somehow you made me feel a gain

From every dream and every letter
I get to know you so much better
And even though you're not here
I feel your presence in the air

Give me your love bit by bit

I stretched my limits strived to find
The reasons love has made me blind
An answer's yet to come to me
Should I wait, or let it be

Give me your love bit by bit
