Eddy & Irene by Pornorama

What could I say,
I was so proud.
But back in May,
When I found out
I could have been wasted
But you were there
Knocking down on me
A love affair

This very day,
You were so loud.
But as it phased
Like hell about
All secrets and locks
And the rumours there
I fell on my knees:
A non-affaire

A non-affaire

Now they grew strong,
With great ideas
In washed up days
They had the skills
To get it all out there
And as I speak,
Thinking about it
A great relief

It's up to me

Eddy & Irene,
Girl of just fifteen
The way she wasn't there
She wasn't quite aware

So humble faith
Is hard to find,
And as you race,
The days go by

In now and then slow motion,
And often strange emotions.
You could have been crushed there with agony
I should have been guessing apologies
I should have been waiting
I should have been waiting

Eddy & Irene,
Girl of just fifteen
The way she wasn't there
She wasn't quite aware

And I feel so low without you, so low without you
