"A Bird Flies By"

I've been sleeping outside
It's damp and rainy
I've been dreaming a song
That song is you

And I've been thinking of love
Moulded up with clay
And I made a joke about you
Came back to haunt me

When I'm old
I'll rest my bones
In the midnight sky
A bird flies by

I waded through all the tall grass
With eyes wide-open
And I took a swim with Grandpa
In hopes that you would find me

And I stole your fishing boots
Replaced them with diamonds
That way when you are gone
I am not forgotten

Out through the chimney
And into the sky
The clouds they are empty
And a bird flies by

And out through the chimney
And into the sky
The clouds they are empty
And a bird flies by
