I waited for you to help me out of here
I'm weak but I'm still poised for a new beginning
You wanted my heart, my tears and honesty
Now you want me to bleed
You don't know your enemy
Close enough to see
And all the time your name
Was tripping from my tongue
Was this love for you
Holding to the lie for somewhere to belong
Love is not to win or to lose

You're waving your hand
You ride down the street from me
How bad did I feel
The morning you melted away
Like ice in my hands
Your tears flowing over me
I'm caught where I stand
I know where you want to be
I know who you want to be

Here I am crying out
Won't you stay, won't you stay
Won't you stay
