These picture perfect memories
Seem to fade out with time
And now I'm stuck here wishing
I could read your mind
Oh, I've tried!
Thought all along we'd turn this thing around
The more I tried, the more you held your ground
I hope that you haven't shut me out completely
Oh no

We're falling again
We're losing it all
Again and again
How'd we get here again?

What would it take for you to finally let me in?
It's more than I can take
To think that this, this could be the end
It hurts more than you know
'Coz I'm not ready to let you go
But I can't live this way anymore
Anymore

You need some time to think you say to me
I won't give up till I can help you see
You're not alone in this world
That's whirling past you
Oh no oh!
We're falling again!
We're losing it all!
Again! And again!
How'd we get here again?

What would it take for you to finally let me in?
It's more than I can take
To think that this
This could be the end
It hurts more than you know
'Coz I'm not ready to let you go

But I can't live this way anymore
Anymore
Anymore
Anymore

What would it take for you to finally let me in?
It's more than I can take
To think that this, this could be the end
It hurts more than you know
'Coz I'm not ready to let go
But I can't live this way anymore
Anymore

These picture perfect memories
Seem to fade out with time
And now I'm stuck here wishing
I could change your mind
