These streets haunt me, every wonder I've seen

I will never change because I grow
A new direction it seems
Evolving to new extremes

What comes next you'll overcome
Decoding every word I've sung
The mystery will not unwind
Because this culture is so blind

I have a Feeling I can't stay
These conversations have pushed me away
Under the surface I hold all of the secrets
An unrevealed weapon of my resistance

The bitter end of what can't change
They blow it off and take it all in vain
Now grab your 50's you have something to die for
A brand new asset to this holy war

Wasted for nothing, still I lie
In my own world to think
Everyone against me

Now can I overcome
This mortal I've become
Can I trust in you confide
These hypocrites so blind

I have a feeling that I can't stay
These conversations have pushed me away
Under the surface I hold all of the secrets
An unrevealed weapon of my resistance

My resistance
