By now I've seen it all
Live the same day over and over
The world's become so small

Slipping by the second
Deeper into gray
Until I look into your eyes
And until you say my name, never the same

Under your spell, you mystify me
After the world runs out of magic
Give me something to believe

I'm under your spell, you mystify me
After the world gives up on magic
You'll be the one I still believe

Starving for the real thing
Sick of shams and lies
You up here, a dose of lightning
Opening up the sky before my eyes

Under your spell, you mystify me
After the world runs out of magic
Give me something to believe

I'm under your spell, you mystify me
After the world gives up on magic
You'll be the one I still believe
I still believe, yeah

Make my heart starts beating
The sun and the moon collide
Stars will fall out in the streets when
When I see you tonight

I'm under your spell, you mystify me
After the world runs out of magic
Give me something to believe

I'm under your spell, you mystify me

After the world gives up on magic
You'll be the one I still believe

Under your spell, I'm under your spell
Under your spell, under your spell
