

Profundi

"Coffinborn"

Visit "Coffinborn" on MotoLyrics.com

Whilst darkness chases the light away...
As twilight swallows the sun...
I'm struck by the sweet remembrance of all the lives
That I shall ever shun

Where shadows are cast amongst the tombs,
Where daylight's now long gone - I swear to the pale
White grinning moon that this is where I belong

A landscape clad in countless graves, a landscape I
Call home,
Though the lifelessness I'm ought to never be alone
The epitaphs that surrounds me has nothing but Increased,
So it is with pride I rest with the deceased

In havoc I welcome you all
I'll rise as others fall
The oath of the dead I have sworn, and forever to be
The forlorn...

By the distant chimes of funerals, the sound which I
Adore
Even after ages of burials, I still long for more
Carried by the wings of doom, on sepulchral winds I Ride...
Searching every corner... Or wherever life may hide

The soil that withers beneath my feet shall take me all
The way to the point where even oblivion will decay
This silent path will bring me to the very threshold of That gate,
That I shall plunge out through with the burning Hate...
That will seal your fate

No more shall the sound of heartbeats plague the ground
On which I stand,
As I now silence another breath with the touch of my Bare hands

And so I'll stalk all known as living, hunt them like a Curse...
Until the day all lies cold on the funeral hearse

[6-string shriek: Jens RydÅ©n]

I am he who grasp your souls at night,
Harvesting the fields of life with the cold touch of my Scythe
I am your final breath... The reaper of your flesh...
As in this world I am known as death

In havoc I welcome you all
I'll rise as others fall
The oath of the dead I have sworn, and forever to be
The forlorn...
The coffinborn

Visit Profundi page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.