In the night, you're dreamin', but it's part of the game
In the night, reality is slipping away
There's a frightening sensation, what a terrifying ride
When you're filled with desperation, and there ain't no place to hide

Haunted by a dream that doesn't set you free Haunted by a dream, and you lost yourself to your fantasy
If only there could be a chance to get away
But haunted by a dream 'til the dawning light you are bound to stay
In the night, in the night
And you know you have to live alone with your fear
And you know you can't find any way outta here
And in your imagination, you are trapped behind a wall
So you scream in desperation, but there ain't no sound at all

Haunted by a dream that doesn't set you free Haunted by a dream, and you lost yourself to your
If only there could be a chance to get away
But haunted by a dream 'til the dawning light you are
bound to stay

Haunted by a dream, and you lost yourself to your
In the night, in the night
In the night, in the night
