When mirrors show the other side
Of your life
Reflections of truth reveal
Your lies

Cracks drain delusiveness
Of your thoughts
The mendacious causes
And their costs

When mirrors give away to
What's behind
Malicious secrets that
You hide

The bottles tell other side
Of your life
Prescription happiness
Is blind

Pain killers hide
Behind the reflective
Surface of your own life
Until your mind's infected

Knowing what you know
But failing only to see
It's slowly putting you to sleep
Dying off one by one
As you look up you see
A figment of what you've become

Killing you, Killing me
And as you sow
So shall you reap
Dying off one by one
As you look up you see
The figment of what you've become

All your life, satisfied
Though you lie

Through your eyes
Can't you see, can't you see
Criticize, criticize!
All your life you try
It's not enough, not enough
Just enough to say goodbye
You only hate to break the mirror
While you sleep, while you die
And as you wake you feel the shards
Over your pillow while you cry
You only hate to laugh at fear
When fear is all you have in life
You want to hide behind the mirror
But the face you can't deny
Is looking back and smiling,
Laughing at you from the other side

Knowing what you know
But failing only to see
Dying off one by one

Killing you, Killing me
And as you sow
