Lonely Silver Dove

Sweet Apache Maid

Sweet Apache Maid

Alone all alone by the campfire

She dreamed of her love, her delight

Away, far away on the prairie

Her love Golden Hawk shared the night

Sometimes at night with the moon he would come

Sweet were the moments they shared

But with the dawn he was gone with the sun

A smoke sign arose from the prairie

A breeze sighed a sad morning song

The brave Golden Hawk had departed

Had gone to the great, great beyond

Sometimes at night when there's rain in the sky

She hears her love high above

He and his pony go thundering by.
