The Final Chapter
(Lyrics and Music by Cristoffer Escoz)

Hey Peter, I was your son
You knew me none but you taught me how to run
Hey Peter, no one won
'Cause these memories can't be undone

Hey Peter, here I am now, here I stand now
I made it without you
Bye Peter, you were my captor
It's the final chapter of the book
I've been writing too long (way too long)

Hey Judas, I was your friend
But you had to bend to your hunger to be the best
Hey Judas, you can't mend
It's way too late to try to comprehend

Hey Judas, here I am now, here I stand now
I made it in spite of you
Bye Judas, you were my captor
It's the final chapter of the book
I've been writing too long (way too long)

Hey darling, you are my home
The only one I feel like I belong with Trust me love, I don't think you know
How much you do just by being yourself

Hey darling, here I am now, here I stand now
I just want to deserve your love
Oh please, help me close this chapter
It's the final chapter of the book
I've been writing too long (way too long)
