Night by Q65

one morning I wake up and cried of something what I always knew our love is gone and there's nothing left can't forget all the hurt and tears you said that I've killed your deepest feelings that's just what I don't understand I tried to do all I could to make our freindschip understood now I'm on my own realize that I've got no home make's no differents where I go won't forget it, that's something I'll forever know love is pain love still remains and some day I will find it again
now I'm on my own
