September, the sky falls again
Remember, pain weaving in again

My life is like your life, I'm living in hell
My day is like your day, can't save my self
My walk is like your walk, I stumble when I step
I got what you got, and there's nothing left
Do you see what I see this sucks and it's not
The place for me, do you feel like I feel
I need something real show me something finally real
So lonely inside watching tears falling from the sky

I will be there, right by your side
If you fall, through this all
I will be here
I will still care, when life isn't fair
If it hurts, mark my words
I will be here

Can you hear, it echo through my head
I'm dead once more, feel me spill upon the floor

so lonely inside, watching tears falling from the sky
I need something real, show me something finally real
Do you feel like i feel, this sucks, not the place for me
If you see what I see there's nothing left
I stumble when I step as my walk is like your walk
Can't save myself, my day is like your day
I'm living in hell you can't tell
My life is like your life

Dre: Always, I'll be by your side

Enik: This I promise you
