Fire burns me brighter than ever before water runs through these open door wanting to remain lock forever

i forgive words that you say your lies are wearing thin
lets move on and leave them here light consumes me more than you'll ever know dont speak so soft understand the beaten path you walk has over grown

so say it once to my eyes say that you're always, always away there's so much you hide your eyes tell me so go back on your word and hide so we can move on.
