"Another Rock & Roll-outlaw, using another Rock & Roll-pseudonym like,
Let's say, or something stupid like that, has chosen a life apart from
What YOU would maybe call Establishment and seems only to lose his inner Anger against everything, anytime he is hitting the stage once more..."

It's not a job, more a lifestyle, something you'll never know
This takes me somewhere you will never ever go to
It's moving me on, it makes me feel alive
That's just the way, another day, another show
Hey, This won't work for everybody, it might be even worse for me
But there's no choice about my passion, to turn the night into day

BACK IN LIFE, BACK IN TOWN, GOT MY FEET BACK ON THE GROUND
NOT DEAD AND NOT SOBER, HANG OUT AND HANG OVER AGAIN
BACK IN BUSINESS, BACK IN TIME, ALWAYS FIND ME BORDERLINE
SO THE PRESSURE GETS LOWER, HANG OUT AND HANG OVER AGAIN
A MAD MAN'S RESURRECTION

I'm always walking on thin ice, till it feels I break through
I seem to be a psycho or the kindest guy you ever knew
Well, this ain't a perfect world and baby so ain't I
And just like all of you I'm getting used to fake and lie
That's what they call self-destruction, that's what they call rise and fall
But that's what I call satisfaction, that's what I call Rock & Roll

BACK IN LIFE...
