She always attempts to try and find the action
Like her life depends on it
Blood, sweat and tears - shocking reactions
In a world that wouldn't fit

She's got the power to make a change,
Transform a life often deranged
She's got the passion of a fighter
And a heart of gold that's inside her

She never gave up on herself
Never blamed somebody else

She had to start listening,
To the signs that warned she was fucking up time and
Time again
And like diamonds glistening,
Her open-eyes will now reflect to you a better view
Again

Another challenge to find the answer,
But she'll discover a way somehow
Blood, sweat and tears are often familiar,
But she won't let it drag her down

She's got a feeling of motivation,
Found herself through loyal dedication
The compassion of a lover,
Always putting others above her

She never gave up on herself
Never blamed somebody else

She had to start listening,
To the signs that warned she was fucking up time and
Time again
And like diamonds glistening,
Her open-eyes will now reflect to you a better view
Again
