

Race Horses

"Sisters"

Visit "Sisters" on MotoLyrics.com

Do you have a sister, does she every cry?
Let through her emotions, by some troubled guy?
And are you just a phantom, in her fantasy?
Though you try to leave here, she still follows me
Do you have a lover, do you live alone?
Dreaming of a hauntic, on your journey home
What's the use of dreaming, when it brings such pain?
God has made you this way, then you start over again
Aha, you're starting over again

It's in the way you watch her, it's in the way you stare
It's in the way you stalk her, when she combs her hair
Twisted by her beauty, all look full of shame
But you could never tell her, so you're starting over again
Aha, you're starting over again

Uuuuh, does she ever cry?
Uuuuh, does she ever cry?
You know, cause breaking is the way
To show, you're not... anyway
When tomorrow never comes, run, run, run
And if you ever feel alone,
Don't go home, you're starting over again,
Aha, you're starting over again
Aha, you're starting over again
Aha, you're starting over again.

Visit Race Horses page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.