

Races

"Lies"

Visit "Lies" on MotoLyrics.com

Walking out the front door
Believe in what I cannot see
Finding out that even
The lock can break the key
I've been living in a lie
To live life without you
Believing my own lies and without a clue

While I'm packing boxes I found some of your things
I throw myself as you were still right here with me
But I was living in a lie
To feel closer to you
Believing in a lie
Was the best that I could do

You left me only bones to pick
And break between my teeth
To suck out all the marrow and taste
The truths you've kept from me
Well while you slept in my bed
I always laid and faced the wall
Thinking about ash and broken things loose
'Cause I thought you could dissolve
I was a mouthful of lies
I'm always spitting at you,
You believed all of my lies and without a clue

Walking out the front door
I'm always speaking to trees
Finding out that even
The lock can break the key
Seems I'm living in a lie
To feel closer to you,
Believing in a lie,
It's the best that I can do,
Living in a lie,
I'm always dreaming of you
Believing my own lie
Was the best that I could do for you

