Oh my sisters and brothers do you feel like you belong
Oh my sisters and brothers born of the savage tongue

Who made the people angry
On such a sunny day
Now all has been and gone
But the rain won't go away

The leaves start falling
Your friends go missing
Everybody's talking about the cost of living

In memory of Saturdays and Strangeways
In memory of all the life you gave away

We've fallen from the sky
But we dance around the fire
In a world that's disappearing
The flames are getting higher

Oh my sisters and brothers born of the savage tongue
Oh my sisters and brothers do you feel like you belong

The leaves start falling
Your friends go missing
Everybody's talking about the cost of living

In memory of Saturdays and Strangeways
In memory of all the life you gave away

Oh my sisters and brothers born of the savage tongue
