people are weaned on disinformation right from the start of their indoctrination keeping the people down makes the world go around and around and around and around
i don't like the way that the world is turning i don't like the rumors i've heard i can see too many bridges burning and the lights are going out again all over the world the children that play today all the little boys and girls are the soldiers and the sweethearts of tomorrows war
