"Young 'Til Yesterday"

once upon a long long time every thing was black or white with shining light to guide us to the dawn to the dawn now there's only grey and the light has dimmed away this ship of fools is shinking in the storm i was young 'till yesterday believed the tales they told
but now i'm ready to grow old everything is going to be just the way it's got to be a man can't change the colour of the sky everybody's making plans pointing guns and waving flags but i'm not sure that any side is right
