Learn this lesson well:

You create your own hell and sometimes its soothing.

Its true that thoughts can kill and that the road to hell is paved with the best intentions.

I learned my lesson well.

I paved my way to hell and I found it to be soothing.

I felt those thoughts that kill and I paved the road to hell with the best intentions.

Subtle signs and hidden features speak loud of silent diseases;

and there are no remedies.

Now I need remedies for my remedies and I've forgotten how to sleep.

So speak loud now, silent creature,

of the need for a "Safe Distance" feature...

and maybe I'll get some sleep.
