Chorus

They fight for the wealthy and well-connected
But there aren't enough millionaires to get them
elected
So, by keeping the workers fighting each other Through using "Divide and Conquer", they can force
their will upon us
(Class Warfare)

Fanning the flames of our divisions
Until we're too distracted to realize they're winning Then they're keeping the people fighting each other
By using "Divide and Conquer", they're forcing their will upon us (Class Warfare)

V1

Let's begin with the ruling elites of the upper classes And the ways they keep their positions as masters of the masses
They have their own set of laws, don't even live among the public
Their connections give them power and their money buys them justice Setting the rules of society, controlling the resources that we need The architects of every war, greed fuels their policies They're investors, our military leaders, and the bankers
The hidden political donors, CEOs, and money changers Controlling every industry from science to entertainment
They craft your "American Dream" then profit from your attempts to gain it Making a fortune off of their policies and the lifestyle they sell Hoarding the wealth of entire regions, keeping it for themselves Through tax havens, subsidies, and government contracts

And by looting poor nations they know can't fight back Then cut services to the workers and the poor to pay for it

While convincing the workers to blame each other for their bad fortune

Using politics to keep us fighting each other instead of acknowledging

They're Social Darwinists, believing the rich should live in dominance

Like neo-colonists, controlling the world's their true purpose

The ruling class is waging a war to keep us as their servants

Chorus

They fight for the wealthy and well-connected

elected

So, by keeping the workers fighting each other

Through using "Divide and Conquer", they can force
their will upon us

(Class Warfare)

Fanning the flames of our divisions

their will upon us (Class

Warfare)

V2

Next you have the middle class, who've worked themselves out of poverty

They typically stay employed and are homeowners with families

They're educated taxpayers who refuse to finish last They've played the game and paid their dues; the American Dream's within

Their grasp

And their goal's to be financially secure

But they feel a hidden hand holding them back, keeping them just above the Poor

So they sacrifice their dreams in order to help their children rise

Literally working themselves to death in order to keep that dream alive

And that's exactly how it was planned to be, to keep you working in Factories

Or industries controlled or owned by the ruling elite; the cycle's complete When they trap you in a mortgage, credit cards, or student loans Now you're forced to work your entire lives to keep the things you think You own
And that's why you're considered the "cash cows" of the ruling classes Getting robbed by inflation, energy costs, and property taxes, Rising tuitions for your children, while the bankers raid your pensions During the latest "financial crisis" that was designed to keep you Imprisoned
Now your retirement funds are gone, you've worked your life away for Nothing
Then their politicians come, manipulating your pain and suffering
Then direct it at other workers instead of the wealthy who deserve it
And this is exactly how the wealthy make you their servants

Chorus

They fight for the wealthy and well-connected
But there aren't enough millionaires to get them
elected
So, by keeping the workers fighting each other
Through using "Divide and Conquer", they can force
their will upon us
(Class Warfare)

Fanning the flames of our divisions
Until we're too distracted to realize they're winning
their will upon us (Class Warfare)

V3

Finally this brings us to the lower classes, no disrespect But we're the poor and the ones living check-to-check, cuz the biggest Threat

To our rulers is an educated and united public Cuz when the masses know the truth, revolutions end their corruption So their plan's to keep us quiet, uninformed and unexcited Instigating petty rivalries so the workers are now divided Over religion, race and gender; feeding us lies by the hour Wasting our anger on each other while those cowards stay in power Flooding communities with drugs cuz they keep us sedated Then distract us with porn and other forms of
And their propaganda channels feed us the lies they want us to believe Teaching us to hate their enemies so we'll fight in their wars of greed
But the media never mentions that our targets are defenseless Or the billions that the wealthy stand to gain from these decisions Instead they show us the high life until we're more concerned With movies, sports, and music to care for what's going on in the world Following celebrities like idols, the salesmen of the wealthy Hand-picked to endorse their products and the lifestyle they're selling Making you think it's cool to break laws, get high, and pimp women
Then they target those who do it to fill their for-profit prisons Those that want to fight against them are afraid for their children Working full time and still barely able to make a living So they're grateful to our masters for the crumbs that they're given And that's why the wealthy don't have to listen cuz they're winning

Chorus

They fight for the wealthy and well-connected
But there aren't enough millionaires to get them
elected
So, by keeping the workers fighting each other
Through using "Divide and Conquer", they can force
their will upon us

(Class Warfare)

Fanning the flames of our divisions
Until we're too distracted to realize they're winning
their will upon us (Class Warfare)
