Remember how you used to hold me
And I remember every taste of every last sweet kiss
And the expression when you told me,
"I'm sorry baby but some things just turn out like this."

Well it's been three Decembers
And all I do is remember, you and you know
I remember when we met
You lay're on my bed.

And I remember when you said, "I never do things like this"
Yeah I remember every breath right up until the day
you left, oh
Baby I remember you
But I can't seem to remember to forget.

And the first line of your favorite book Yeah, and even the first time that I, I saw you cry
You know I can live without all the things you took But will I ever learn to live with what you left behind?

'Cause it's been three Decembers
And all I do is remember, you and you know
I remember when we met
You lay're on my bed.

And I remember when you said, "I never do things like
this"
Yeah I remember every breath right up until the day
Baby I remember you, but I can't seem to remember to forget.

About how you make me mad then you turn around and made me laugh, yeah You never could quite be convinced of the kids, the yard and the picket fence And everything we were gonna do, I can't seem to remember to forget about you, Oh, forget about you, you know.

It's been three Decembers, ta-ra-ta..
And all I do is remember you, and you know
I remember when we met
You there on my bed.

Yeah I remember when you said, "I never do things like this"
I remember every breath right up until the day you left, oh
Baby I remember you, but I can't seem to remember to forget.

Uhm, forget about you baby... tarararara
