She says the feelings won't slip away, Yeah
And he says, she never felt them anyway

She stares out of the window the world just walks on by The faces she won't meet, she won't even try
And she fades away
She fades away, just fades away
Like a smile upon her face, disappears without a trace
She fades away

She lies there in the darkness
The moon lights up her face, yeah
Her breath steams up the window, her smile seems out of
Place
Strange how she feels just fine, can't feel the pain
This time
She lets the moment pass
And it seems so far away but the memory's here to stay
In the bottom of her glass and she fades away
She fades away, just fades away
Like a smile upon her face disappears without a trace
She fades away

She says she's hoping that her time will never come
Turn and face it or to turn around and run
She lies there thinking has the moment passed her by
But never thinks to ask the reason why
And she fades away

She fades away
Just fades away
Like a smile upon her face
Disappears without a trace
She fades away
She fades away
Just fades away
