Staring out my window nothing
But the night sky staring back at me
Everyone is sleeping
Everyone but me.

Lying in my bed,
Counting all the tears I've shed
And thinking of the things you said
Running through my head.

Wishing you were here tonight
I need you to come hold me tight
And tell me that ill be alright
Ill be alright.

So come, and set me free from this misery.
My heart is empty can't you see, can't you see.

Shadows paint the walls where spotlights used to shine.
I'm alone in this world but they somehow seem to Guide me through the wind and the rain
When I can't take anymore of this pain
And I can't forget.

My world is hanging by a thread
But ill hold on to my last breath
As I, sit and wait for you.
To return again.

So come and set me free from this misery.
My heart is empty can't you see, can't you see.

(Guitar solo)

So come and set me free from this misery.
My heart is empty can't you see, can't you see.

Wishing you were here tonight
I need you to come hold me tight
And tell me that ill be alright, ill be alright.

Staring out my window nothing
But the night sky staring back at me
everyone is sleeping,
Not me.
