What's the way of love?
Tell me your fiction tell me your lies say to me now you'll never forget this night I'm feeling emotionless my head's so clear my enemies aren't the ones I fear you know your kiss confuses this troubling soul and I found out that we're all breaking hearts that we're all broken hearts

If only love could find us all if only hearts didn't have to fall we can't mislead to make things right so instead we'll sleep alone tonight

What's the way of love
you are thinking i'm crazy but you're blushing of lust I've heard a lot of nice things but tell me which ones i'm to trust the walls we made are glass and they have been known to crack but until then you'll keep pushing my way and I'll keep pushing you away

If only love could find us all if only hearts didn't have to fal
we can't mislead to make things right

If you want to take a chance and try to make things right you better have a reason to be loved we all want something more and it is worth fighting for...

If only love could find us all

And if all our fate were in my hands would it be enough to understand why we feel lost in a world so small if only love could find us all...
