"Truth Or Consequences"

This time I'm not going to ask myself why
I'd like to feel fine, if it's possible

And I'm sick of letdowns and giving-ups
Cause right now I'm afraid of consequences

The more I move slow
The more I make noise
(Always out of time)
And I still try to
Forget about you
(Never work out right)

Get out of all this now
Is this what you call love?

I know you're still the same
But you just lie to yourself

I know now that things are never going to change
This is how I erase sorrow from my face

And I'm sick of letdowns and giving-ups
Cause right now I'm afraid of consequences

The more I move slow
The more I make noise
(Always out of time)
And I still try to
Forget about you
(Never work out right)

But I still think of what you said
Why must your life be so sad?
