Breathe with me as I take you down this empty street.
It's what I want to do, time breaks everything I hide.

To the bar that's about to close,
But when your mind it never shows,
That it's as quick as the years to be,
Is there any need to think.

There is no apocalypse... turn off the lights and have
Some fun.
There is no apocalypse... turn off your life span and have
Some fun.

... and it's all over now.

Let's have one more before the sky turns blue.
I'll follow you back home, time takes everything I hide.

To the door that's about to close,
But when your mind it never shows,
That it's a quick as the years to be,
Is there any need to think.

There is no apocalypse... turn off the lights and have
Some fun.
There is no apocalypse... turn off your life span and
have
Some fun.

... and it's all over now.
