Blink

i swim beneath the waters unseen yet i control shapeless but with a purpose to conquer everyone inside of your religion running your government behind your neighbors eyes within your mother's home i fly upon the airwaves hidden though i prevail covered by mystery to rape and burn your soul the master of your army ruler of all the world coiled around your cities surrounding every town blink when your guard is down blink and your fight is done blink then you've dropped the crown blink because you've lost the sun i live to bring confusion against the current flow i choose your king and queen deciding friend and foe i send you to destruction scattering seeds you sow you lose in everything by me the earth is woe
