Shores Of Forever (us Version)

if i could start to shape your heart if i could chance to change your mind we would attempt to discover that life is nothing without love we're standing on the shores of forever where stars are shining brighter than before and peace is the prince of the moment our hearts are so weary from the war look deep inside for what is golden then seek to turn the other cheek desire never moved a mountain this world is not worth fighting for
