"Eventually"

I am a simple person living with a special reason
I am a feeble creature with a God given future

Nothing can break me apart
'Cuz nothing can tear up my heart

If there is a will, there is a way
Whatever may come, Come what may
'Cuz even the world can't stop me
People may pull and I may fall
But someone up there can hear my call
For the Lord is here to help me, eventually

My heart is beating so fast
And I don't know when this will last
The world may turn back from me
But I don't care, I'll make them see

For all the teardrops am I all the pain
Living with Him is victory and to die is gain

If there is a will, there is a way
Whatever may come, Come what may
'Cuz even the world can't stop me
People may pull and I may fall
But someone up there can hear my call
For the Lord is here to help me

I may not stand upon the highest mountain
Nor swim the deepest sea
But through Him no one can claim my victory, my victory...

If there is a will, there is a way
Whatever may come, Come what may
'Cuz even the world can't stop me
People may pull and I may fall
But someone up there can hear my call
For the Lord is here to help me

If there is a will, there is a way

Whatever may come, Come what may
'Cuz even the world can't stop me
People may pull and I may fall
But someone up there can hear my call
For the Lord is here to help me, eventually
