"Crushed By The Weight"

It's always something new
The same fucking excuses
"I just can't quit"
Pollute your body to erase your past
But physical distraction won't last
The weight of your past is crushing you
Detach yourself from what they did to you
And don't let regret swallow you whole
The time is now to turn and walk away
From all that you can't change
So here we go again
Same story, different situation
Crushed by the weight of the world
That turned it's back on you
And so you turn to me
And I walk away
I walk away
I would do anything
To make you whole again
But I can't change your past
And only you can change yourself
I won't be here
