Well it's snowing in Miami and it's hailing in L.A.
Money's growing like green apples on the trees
I've been hanging out with Elvis, yeah and all my bills are paid
And they're giving away Cadillacs for free
The whole world gets along
I haven't thought about you once since you've been gone

I've forgotten you
I've forgotten every single time you kissed me
I don't miss it like you think I do
I've forgotten you
How you held me and it felt like it's what you were born
to do
If I lie enough it might come true, I've forgotten you

There's a million things about you, I don't remember anymore
Like that time we got that cabin up in Boulder
I don't remember how I kissed you up against that old oak door
Ain't it funny how things fade when it's over Yeah I'm doing fine
I sleep just like a little baby every night

I've forgotten you
I've forgotten every single time you kissed me
I don't miss you like you think I do
I've forgotten you
How you held me and it felt like it's what you were born
to do
If I lie enough it might come true, I've forgotten you

Can't you see I'm moving on I haven't thought about you once since you've been
gone

I've forgotten you
I've forgotten every single time you kissed me
I don't miss you like you think I do

I've forgotten you
How you held me and it felt like it's what you were born
to do
If I lie enough it might come true, I've forgotten you Yeah, it's another cold day in hell and I've forgotten you
