You've grown accustomed to your pain
You've got people that you know you can blame
Your broken heart, it still stings
They've got pills you take for that kind of thing

You like to know what's coming your way
You're lost inside, you're so afraid

yeah yeah yeah yeah

You sit in your room believe in your lies
Who's gonna save you from the world outside
You talk to yourself so you know your alive
Someone save me from the world outside yeah

You had a life, you had dreams
Now you watch other people's up on a screen
You're gonna make a big change
But it isn't gonna happen today yeah

You like to know what's coming your way
You're lost inside, you're so afraid

yeah yeah yeah yeah

You sit in your room, believe in your lies
Who's gonna save you from the world outside
You talk to yourself so you know your alive
Someone save me from the world outside

The big sun its too bright
You can't run from it you can't hide

You sit in your room believe in your lies
Who's gonna save you from the world outside
You talk to yourself so you know your alive
Someone save me from the world outside

You've been running from the world outside
Who's gonna save ya from the world outside

Thanks to feel
