

Rhonda Harris

"Young Girl And A Cowboy"

Visit "Young Girl And A Cowboy" on MotoLyrics.com

I know, you say, someone told you off
Every time you were generous; you spoke of love
And of sensations of a certain nature
You were generous, you were generous
You said

Tonight I feel like a young boy
Belonging on a star that hangs behind you
I know your big eyes

I know, you saw him, the fat guy in the leather

He was working for a paper
He doesn't matter, he doesn't matter
He's the tin-can in the gutter
You could swop him for any other
He doesn't matter, he doesn't matter:

Because tonight
I feel like a cowboy
Belonging, on a horseback, in the sunset
I saw your big eyes

Visit Rhonda Harris page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.