It may be a fire

Tomorrow it could be nothing

It may reach out to the sky

Light up everything that you know

Everywhere you go from now

You will see better than before

People you've not known for years

Will come knocking at your door

It may be a fire

But you've gotta get it into your heart

It may be a warm wind

That tries to blow your heart away

It may walk into your life

Tell you everything that you know

Looking down through all the years

Making plans that have gone passed

Something you've not known for years

But you knew that it would last

It may be a fire

But you gotta get it into your heart

I'm turning all the answers

Inside out
Looking for a love
That reaches out
Of the fire into your heart
It may be a fire
Tomorrow it may be nothing
It may reach up to the sky
Light up everything that I know
Everywhere I go from now
I will see better than before
People I've known for years
Will come knocking at my door
It may be a fire
But you gotta get it into your heart
It may be a fire
But you gotta get it
You gotta get it
You gotta get it into your heart
It may be a fire
But you gotta get it into your heart
