There's a house down the street
That looks just like a palace to me
I wanna to live with you in a house like that
There's a river that runs right into backyard
The sun hits so that the water plays off the street

But it's just a dream
That I like to dream sometime
So I'll tuck it away
In a corner of my mind

Cuz I know I'm young and dumb
And having too much fun
But it's just a dream
And sometimes dreaming just seems right

There's a row boat down the road
By the dock that's unloved and old
And I want to fix it up
And row it to you someday

I would paint it up all blue
Hell, I'll paint the ores and insides too
Get my compass out
Follow its neddle north-east

But it's just a dream
That I like to dream sometime
So I'll tuck it away
In a corner of my mind

Cuz I know I'm young and dumb
And having too much fun
But it's just a dream
And sometimes dreaming just seems right

Cuz I know I'm young and dumb
And having too much fun
But it's just a dream
And sometimes dreaming just seems right
